This webinar will explore the benefits and positive impact achieved when elder abuse coalitions and aging services begin to collaborate with crime victim services as partners and stakeholders for strategic planning within communities. The most important benefit is enhanced wrap-around services for older adult victims of abuse and other crimes. An overview of victim services and its intersection with aging services will be provided, as well as tips, strategies, and resources for shared outreach and joint activities to address elder abuse within the community. Collaboration and strategic planning are critical for providing the most effective services to older victims in an era of shrinking budgets and reduced staffs.

PRESENTER: Trudy Gregorie

Trudy Gregorie is a National Consultant and Senior Director at Justice Solutions, Washington, DC. Trudy has 33 years of experience in criminal and juvenile justice, specializing in victim services. She was director of a prosecutor-based comprehensive victim services program in Charleston, SC; served on the initial task force that developed statewide victim services policies, procedures, and standards; and was a founding member of the SC Victim Assistance Network. In 1992, she joined the SC Governor's Office and developed the State Crime Victim Ombudsman Program. From 1994-2001, Gregorie served at the National Center for Victims of Crime as Director of Victim Services and Training.
